W. H. SUTLIFF KILLED IN CAR CRASH

GEORGE BLACK NAMED ON PLANNING COMMISSION

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

See the big parade of automobiles — homeward bound from a week-end vacation.

See them — thousands of them — bumper to bumper — all moving at about the same rate of speed.

Both sides of the highway are crowded with the cars.

Fords, Chevrolets, Packards, Lincolns, Cords, Chryslers, Buicks, Dodges, DeSotos, Pontiacs, Oaklands and mystery cars.

In the front seat sits papa, tired and nervous, his anxious eyes upon the highway.

One brief distraction from his driving and there will be pile-up.

Under his breath he is cursing the traffic, the highway and the slow speed.

In the back seat sits mama, tired and blue.

And the baby is crying, it being tired and hungry.

Little Ethel, aged three, is car-sick and is crying.

Little Bobby, aged five, wants an icecreamcone, and gets spanked for his pleas.

A red Buick sport roadster decides it is in a hurry and spurts out of the line.

Coming from the opposite direction is a green Chrysler sedan, moving at a high rate of speed.

Brakes squeal as the red Buick cuts back into the line, narrowly missing a collision.

Once again the Buick spurts out and this time worms its way forward and is lost to view.

Now the line speeds up. The speedometer touches 40 — then the line slows and comes to a halt.

Fifteen minutes — 20 minutes — a half hour — pass before gears groan and clash and the line moves forward.

Anxious eyes are watching the highway ahead, wondering what caused the delay.

A half mile ahead and the reason for the delay is found.

Its the red Buick roadster again — this time lying upon its side in the ditch, the wheels smashed, the top torn off, the windshield broken.

To save five minutes' time — five minutes that were unimportant — the driver had wrecked the car and has injured himself and his companions.

WORK TO BE FINISHED IN YEAR

Two big dredgers, a clam shell and a suction, are at work on the new development of the Santa Fe railroad company, which will create a new industrial district in Richmond.

The dredgers will work day and night, and it is stated it will take about a year before the work is completed.

The present yacht harbor will be filled, and just below it a turning basin will be dredged which will connect onto a new channel which will be thirty-two feet in depth.

Yacht owners have been notified by the engineer, by the Santa Fe officer and by letter to remove their boats, but many of them have paid no attention to the notification, and the big project is being retarded.

The dredgers are at work on the west side, throwing up a levee, preparatory to the work of dredging the channel and filling in the land back of the dike.

With the cross levees that will be constructed, boat owners will soon find themselves in a predicament. Their only method of getting their boats out will be by truck.

TEACHER TO ATTEND MEET

Norlaine Buchanan, past president of the Richmond Teachers' association, will represent that organization at the National Education convention in Columbus, Ohio.

The convention will be held from June 28 to July 3. The local delegates plans to leave Richmond about June 20.

Miss Buchanan is a member of the faculty of the Richmond Union high school.

Forest Fires Sweep State

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 2.—UP—A score of forest fires, started by careless campers over the week-end, raged in four Minnesota northwestern areas tonight.

Dry winds sent the flames sweeping through tall stands of timber. Seven fires were reported in the Bemidji area, six in the Black Duck vicinity, eight near Park Rapids and four near Duluth.

State Forester Grover M. Conzet said all the blazes apparently had been started by the camp fires and the cigarettes of week-end vacationists.

Honor Post To Initiate

A large gathering of Richmond veterans are expected to be present at the quarterly ceremonial and initiation to be held by Honor Post, V. F. W., in Memorial hall tonight. Honor Post will initiate more than a score of candidates, and a banquet will be held under the direction of Charles Hunt.

S. S. Ripley will preside over the business meeting.

George Thompson To Visit East

A party of local people will leave tomorrow for Philadelphia to visit friends and relatives.

In the party will be George Thompson, owner of a local cigar store and his brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thompson of Richmond. Thomas Thompson is an employee of the Standard Oil company.

The party will make the tour by automobile and will return within two months.

This is the first visit Thompson has paid to his home for more than 11 years.

El Cerrito City Councilmen In Tiff

What might have developed into an exciting meeting of the council of El Cerrito Monday night was passed over when the principals refused to do any more talking.

Councilman Phil A. Lee said Chief of Police R. R. Cheek told him that Councilman Peter Larsen was supposed to have asked Cheek why the chief was raiding his bootlegger friends and not Lee's. Lee wanted it understood that he was not trying to protect anyone who violated the law.

Larsen replied if Cheek made that statement it was a falsehood, and the Chief of Police should work under the Police Commissioner, and not some one else.

Cheek, when asked by Larsen to answer yes or no to the question of whether Larsen had told him about raiding his bootlegger friends, refused to answer, and in return asked Larsen if he wanted him to repeat what Larsen told him in front of the police judge.

Larsen insisted on a yes or no answer to his question and Cheek refused, but was willing to tell the conversation that took place.

Mayor U. R. Beck closed the meeting stating that they might as well adjourn, as they were not getting any place.

Now, everyone is wondering what is back of the conversation, and if the details concerning it will be aired at the next meeting of the council.

Kiwanis To Hear Talk On Business

Modern business will be the topic of an address which will be delivered before the members of the Richmond Kiwanis club tomorrow at noon.

The board of directors of the club is to meet this noon at the Hotel Carquinez.

No Fireworks For Richmond July 4

Richmond's ordinance against the sale or use of fireworks will be strictly enforced this year, according to an announcement made by Fire Chief William P. Cooper yesterday.

Fireworks may not be sold or used in the city limits under the provisions of the ordinance.

"Sparklers" will also be prohibited, Chief Cooper stated yesterday.

The ordinance was passed by the city council some time ago as a result of the fire hazard of fireworks. As a result of the law Richmond's fire loss and injured toll which marks every large city where fireworks are sold on July Fourth has been slashed.

Persons selling fireworks or firing them within the city limits will be subjected to arrest.

CITY ASKED FOR BETTER AVENUE LIGHTS

Petitions asking that action be taken for the better lighting of Macdonald avenue were presented to the city council last night.

Sixty-two signatures of property owners representing 112 lots were presented. It was stated this represented ninety percent of the property owners who resided in the city.

At the present time, the lights on the avenue carry but 400 candle-power lamps.

Between First and Sixth street it is proposed to increase the candle-power to 1,000; between Sixth and the Southern Pacific tracks to 1,500 candle-power, and from the tracks to Twenty-third street to 1,000 candle-power.

The present lights on Macdonald avenue are entirely inadequate, and compared to the other electroliter systems, look like candles.

The petitioners ask that a lighting district be formed. The city attorney will draw the necessary proceedings for the start of the work.

Tenth Street Lighting Additional petitions were presented on the Tenth street electroliter project. It was claimed that a majority of the property owners from Lucas avenue to Cutting boulevard, had signed in favor of the work.

A protest against the work was filed by T. Bert Merritt. He claimed the improvement of the street was needed more than the electroliters at the present time.

In order to give the city manager more time in which to gather data on the work, the matter was laid over for one week.

R. Redman of Oakland, believed to have been driving the car which this morning collided with a machine driven by William H. Sutliff of San Pablo, reported to police early this morning through a San Francisco attorney.

According to the sheriff's office, Redman, through his attorney, admitted being in an accident on San Pablo avenue this morning.

Redman, according to police reports, said there was no one to report to, so he called his attorney. His address was not learned by police.

William H. Sutliff, 72, of San Pablo, night watchman at the Standard Sanitary plant here, was almost instantly killed early this morning when his car was struck by a machine at Kirk street and San Pablo avenue.

Sutliff was apparently returning home from work at midnight when the accident occurred.

Sutliff's car was struck broadside and was hurled completely off the highway into a field for a distance of more than 25 feet. Glass and wreckage strewn the streets for more than a block.

Sutliff was removed to the hospital Richmond where he was pronounced dead by Dr. J. W. Bumgarner, Jr.

Kirk leaves a widow, who resides at the family home at 537 Kirk street, San Pablo and a son, Clarence Sutliff, 447 Fourteenth street, Richmond.

The body was removed to the Wilson and Kratzer morgue, where funeral arrangements are pending. Sutliff, a native of Michigan, is survived by his widow, Marie J. Sutliff who resides at the family home, 537 Kirk street, San Pablo; three sons, Marion and Clarence of Richmond and Ralph of Portland, Ore.; a daughter, Mrs. C. A. Wheeler of Seattle, Wash., a granddaughter, Mrs. Weston Fuller of Seattle, and two grandsons, Calvin and Joyce Sutliff of Richmond.

Kane was critically wounded by two men who invaded his well furnished apartment this afternoon. Authorities held Robert Thomas, who claimed he was asleep in the apartment at the time of the shooting, for questioning.

In a court adjoining the apartment was found the store of narcotics.

Thomas told police he believed Kane had been shot during an attempted hold-up, but after the narcotics were found he was interrogated for more details.

Party To Leave For Italy Soon

Peter Soldavini, accompanied by a party of his countrymen, left Sunday night for Italy, where, it was reported, he will wed the girl who has been waiting for him for several years.

The majority of those making the trip are former residents of Milano, which will be the party's first stop. Among those making the trip, besides Soldavini, are Victor Ferrario, Angelo Bertoli, Nick Derabio and George Rosano.

They are expected to be gone for several months.

City Planner

George F. Black, well-known businessman of the city, who served the city for six years as a member of the council was appointed as a member of the planning commission. COUNCIL AIDS RATE FIGHT

Joining with the chamber of commerce, the city council will aid in making a fight before the interstate commerce commission to place Richmond on an equality basis with San Francisco, Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley, so far as rates are concerned to points in the Pacific northwest.

This important matter was brought to the attention of the council last night by Councilman W. W. Scott, who is also a member of the traffic committee of the chamber of commerce.

A complaint will be filed with the rate regulating body. The chamber of commerce will be represented by Frank Chandler, traffic manager of the Certain-teed Products corporation.

The interest of the city will be taken care of by City Attorney T. M. Carlson.

At the present time the cities mentioned are enjoying a thirty-percent less rate than Richmond. Scott stated both of the railroads are willing to place the same rate in effect for Richmond, but neither of them are willing to take the initiative in the matter.

Police Probe Double Death

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—UP—The coroner's office late today announced that a neighbor of Mr. and Mrs. David G. Bost, victims of an asserted murder and suicide, claimed she was executor of the estates and asked to see the bodies.

A deputy coroner declined the request of the woman, who gave the name of "Mrs. Ware" saying she lived next door to the Bosts.

BANKERS NINE WINS FIRST CONTEST

With his hat tilted jauntily over his right hearing apparatus, Red Anderson proceeded to slam one of those rare fast inning drives into right field yesterday afternoon to present the Mechanics Bank nine with a 2 to 1 victory over the Lions' club aggregation.

The contestants in yesterday's battle entered the seventh and last inning in a 1 to 1 tie. Prolo had trotted home in the first inning for the Lions, while Bono smacked out a four bagger for the Bankers in the third.

The next three innings were a succession of parotically strike-outs and pop-ups. So the prospects of a nine inning battle were looming on the horizon of the high school ball field when the Lions came to bat in the first of the seventh. Hampshire singled, Barber fanned, Prolo fanned, Moss was out, Sanfilippo to Anderson, and the Mechanics Bank squad came to bat for the critical test.

Sanfilippo was sent back to the bench via the whirl route. Johnny Hutton singled, and McLaughlin followed with another single, sending Hutton to second.

Nine inning omens were still pretty sure. Then Anderson walked up to home plate, faced Lemon in the box, and swung. The result was a hard hit baseball travelling out into a bare spot in right field and Johnny Hutton flying homeward. There was rejoicing in the camp of the bankers, for they had won their first game of the 1930 Richmond City League season.

Joe Bono pitched a fast, clever game for the victorious Mechanics Bank, allowing six hits, no walks, and fanning 11 Lions.

Gordon Lemon also did well on the mound for the Lions, allowing four hits, no walks, and baffling nine Bankers.

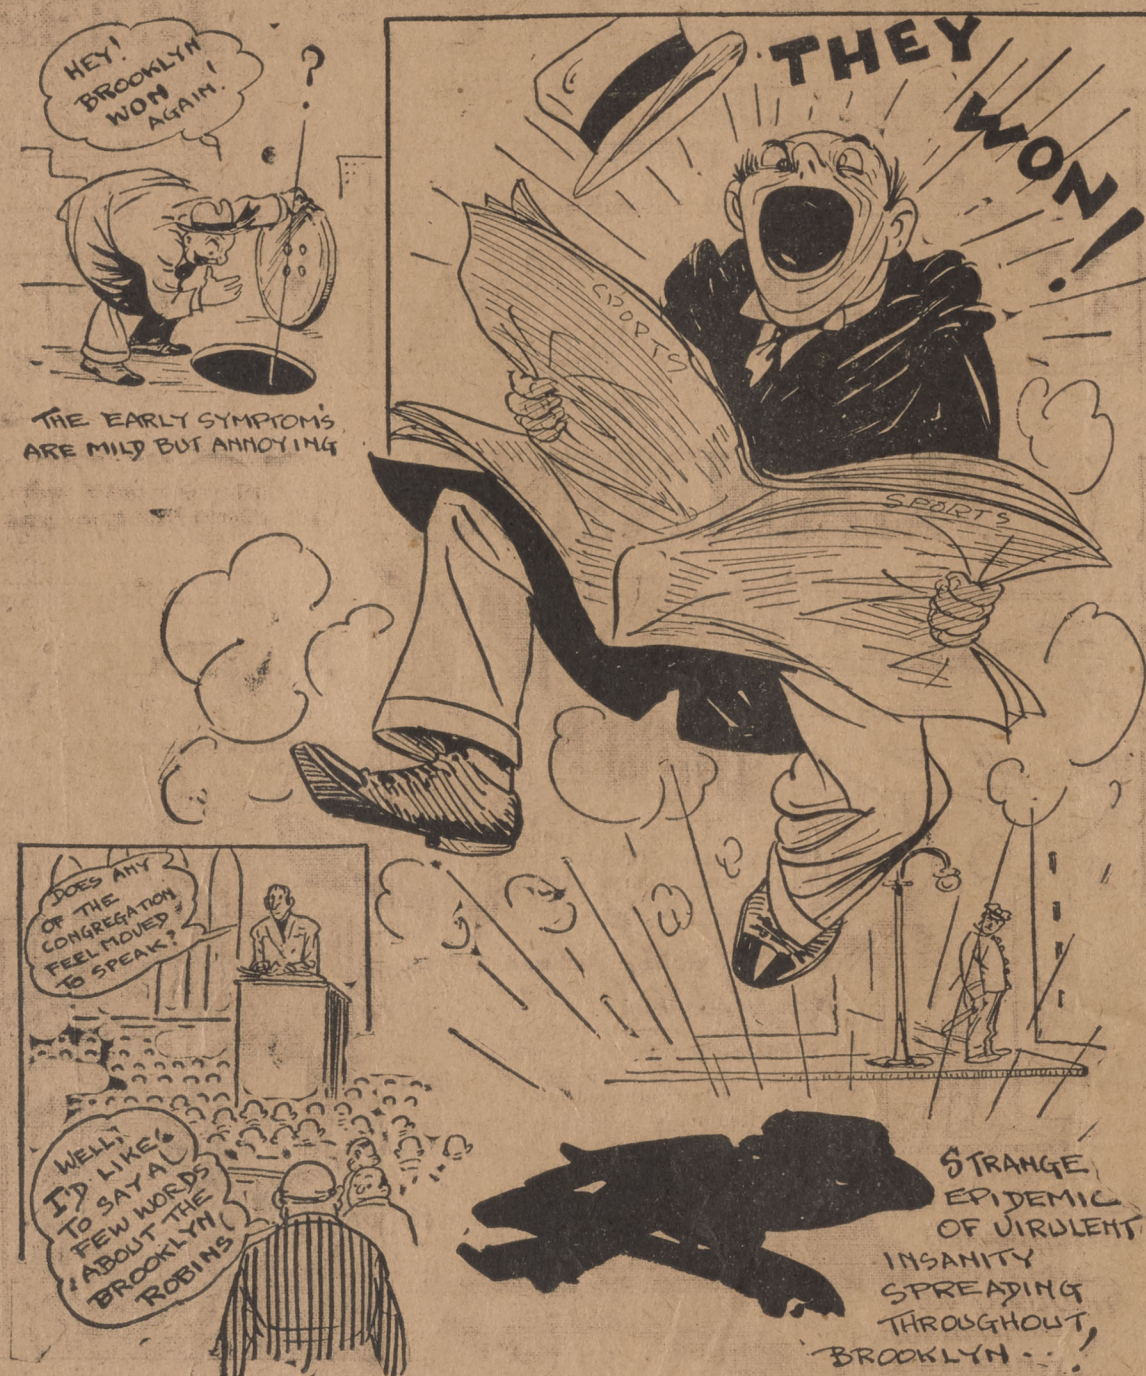

The greatest battle placed thus far in the present City Twilight league season will be staged this afternoon when the Odd Fellows and Nativ Sons, tied for league leadership, clash on the Richmond Union high school field at 5:15 o'clock. Neither team has yet lost a game this season, and both are regarded as members of the aristocracy in local baseball.

ODD FELLOWS LOCAL GIRLS NINE WINS ANOTHER WIN IN NET TOURNEY

And another baseball team left Richmond in sorrow. But what are tears to the victory hardened Odd Fellows of Richmond? It was just another win. By the way, it made their tenth consecutive victory of the 1930 baseball team.

The Rola athletes of Oakland were their unfortunate opponent. In Sunday's battle on the San Pablo diamond, they returned homeward with a 21 to 11 defeat received at the hands of the local Lodgesmen.

Strike-outs were remarkably scarce in Sunday's contest, and hits were all the fashion. The Richmond boys collected 15 hits, while the Oakland players hit twelve safe ones.

Carl Kamb and Johnny Babich were on the mound for Richmond, Rosano did the receiving. Gay and Riggs chucked for the visitors, with Lane behind the plate.

The Richmond Odd Fellows will try to gain their eleventh straight victory when they tangle with the Central Bank outfit of Oakland on the San Pablo lot at 2:30 o'clock next Sunday afternoon.

511,262 Ball Fans See Coast Games In Seven Weeks

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—UP—An announcement tonight at the office of Harry A. Williams, president of the Pacific Coast League, said that 511,262 fans entered the ball parks during the first seven weeks of the present season.

If the same percentage continued it, it would mean better than a "two million" year for the league, the announcement declared.

Beavers To Face Sacs After Five Wins Over Oaks

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—UP—The problem to be settled in the Pacific Coast league this week is whether the Portland Beavers, who scored important and unexpected victories over Oakland last week, can hold the pace against Sacramento.

The Beavers sent Oakland from second to fourth place when they won five of the eight games. Sacramento, unable to play a postponed game against Seattle today, holds a two and one half game margin over the second place San Francisco Seals.

Old rivalries will be renewed in California parks but the Seals are expected to vanquish the San Francisco Missions and Los Angeles should hold the upper hand in games with Hollywood.

The Oaks go to Seattle as favorites over the Indians in a seven game series starting Tuesday.

The Pinole Y. M. I. nine conquered the Diamond Florists of Oakland with a score of 6 to 2 Sunday afternoon at Pinole.

The Pinolians were on the bottom of a 2 to 1 score in the ninth. Then Leslie Marcus hit a long double, bringing in three runs. He succeeded in slipping home due to errors by the visiting Florists. One more run in that inning sealed the doom of the Diamond Florists.

"Doc" Swenson pitched nice ball for the Pinole Y. M. I. allowing but four hits. Nelson, Diamond chucker, was nicked for seven hits. Bill Nellan performed behind home plate for the Y. M. I. aggregation.

RICHFIELD GAS USED BY RACE WINNERS

INDIANAPOLIS, June 2.—Boys from the "boom-boom" city of Chicago, Illinois, have lots of nerve. Gasoline from the "booming" state of California has lots of power and speed. It was this combination which copied the honors here Decoration Day at America's Grand Prix 500-mile racing classic. For fearless, nerveless little Billy Arnold, of Chicago, after leading the field for 198 of the 200 laps, raced first across the finish line with Richfield gasoline in the tank. In addition, his car—a Miller-Hart special, was lubricated with Richfield's famous "power partner" Richlube motor oil.

Arnold, the 28-year old daredevil, set an average speed of 100.448 miles per hour with his eight-cylinder Miller-Hart special, thus exceeding with his big two-place racer the average of last year's winner, a one-man 91 inch car.

It was like old times, according to racing followers, what with mechanics riding with the pilots and Richfield sweeping the boards, the eighth time that Richfield gasoline has powered the Indianapolis winner. This year Richfield won the first five places.

"Shorty" Cantlon, with his Miller Schofield special—a four cylinder vehicle—copied second place. L. F. Schneider with his Bowes special straight eight, won third place. Louis Meyer, last season's champion, was fourth with his 16-cylinder Samson special. Bill Cummings in a Duesenberg creation was fifth. Like the winner, Cantlon, Schneider, Meyer and Cummings all used Richfield. In addition to Arnold, Schneider also was a user of Richlube motor oil, Richfield's "power partner."

Billy Arnold, in coping first place, also grabbed practically all the lap money, according to a preliminary check of the results just completed. It is declared that his winnings—first prize and lap prizes—will total nearly $40,000. His car was owned and entered by Harry Hartz, famous ace of the tracks who in former years—always using Richfield products—won so much gold and glory in the speed game and earned the reputation of America's most consistent speed king.

amateur champion, to defeat Pierre Vagliano, French amateur star, and Paul Dallemagne, professional, 1-up, in an 18 hole exhibition match at Saint German links.

Jones was tired after his hard week of play in the British tourney last week and consented to play on in order that the gallery of 1000 fans would not be disappointed. He made no attempt to score well, merely "going through the motions" and letting Johnson carry the burden.

The lead see-sawed until the seventeenth where the American went one up. They halved the final hole to take the match.

Mrs. T. E. Wood and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stout have returned to Richmond after a visit to Fresno over the Memorial day holidays. While on the trip they visited the Presbyterian Mission near Fresno.

One by one the drivers watch their chance and then pass the slow moving vehicle.

The speed is increased and again it slows down to ten miles an hour.

Creeping along for a half hour at this speed, the line finally passes a state policeman, straddling his motorcycle, sitting on the side of the road—watching.

The line speeds up again. Darkness is coming. Lights are turned on.

High above, through the hills, one can see a steady stream of electric eyes, twisting about the curves.

On the left comes a steady line of lights, cars with one light—cars with two lights—and here comes a car with two headlights, a car with two headlights, and two parking lights on the fenders.

Hours pass as the line chugs forward, slows, stops, then goes ahead again.

Familiar scenes are now approaching. The old familiar street appears.

With a sigh of relief the driver sticks out his hand for a left hand turn, makes it without being hit, and five minutes later drives up to his door—almost too tired to get out.

The vacation is over. Tomorrow he will rest at work.

Police Wound, Capture L. A. Bank Bandits

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—UP—Two bandits who held up the Westside State Bank today and obtained approximately $500 were followed from the building by two bankers and finally fell seriously wounded under the combined fire of the employees and police, who drove up in a apartment "fast" car.

The robbers, identified as Jack Sanchez, 23, and Jesus Camo, 25, both of Denver, attempted to flee in an automobile after the holdup in which they threatened W. P. Sharp, teller; F. F. Miller, manager; a young woman bookkeeper and five customers. Miller and Sharp grabbed up rifles as the pair left and fired at them as they entered their car.

The bandit automobile careened into a parked machine near the bank at the first volley fired by Sharp and Miller. The bandits leaped out and started to run as the police car containing four officers from Wilshire station appeared.

Camo and Sanchez were caught by cross fire of the policemen and the bank men and fell with probably fatal wounds. Sanchez was wounded twice, one bullet entering his head behind the right eye. Camo's right hand was shot off, and he was also shot through the abdomen. Their wounds were so severe that they appeared dead to the officers, who made such a report to headquarters.

Examination at a hospital revealed them to be alive, but with little chance to recover.

SLAYER DIES IN GAS CELL

CARSON CITY, Nev., June 2.—UP—Nevada's unique lethal chamber executed its third man with deadly gas today when R. H. "Bob" White died from the greenish fumes at the Carson City penitentiary.

White, a 40-year old throwback to the picturesque gambler of the old west, was convicted of the murder of Louis Lavell, fellow card trickster at Elko, Nev.

The adobe death house was prepared for use at dawn. White was strapped in a chair in the one room structure just as the sun was turning the tops of nearby mountains from purple to pink.

Gas Formed
On the wall inside was a two-gallon jar containing two quarts of water and one quart of sulphuric acid. Over the jar was a wire mesh. And on the mesh were ten one-ounce capsules of cyanide of potassium.

The executioner outside pulled a string attached through a hole in the wall to the mesh. It tipped, allowing the capsules to plunge into the acid solution. Immediately it boiled violently. The cyanide gas wafted up in thick green clouds, soon filled the room and entered White's lungs. His pulse paced madly for an instant, then slowed down until he relaxed in death.

Ventilating fans in the ceiling were turned on, the room quickly was cleared of the fumes and the prison physician entered to examine the body.

Women Present
About 50 persons, including two women, witnessed the execution through several small windows in the thick-walled gas chamber. The women were nurses who said they wanted to see the effects of death by gas.

Dr. E. E. Hammer, prison physician who listened to White's heart beats by means of a stethoscope which reached to the clear air outside, said White became unconscious almost as soon as the gas was generated and that he died two minutes later without experiencing any pain.

White remained a poker-faced gambler to the last. He insisted he was innocent of the murder, but said that he would much rather die than be imprisoned for life. He refused to see visitors. When the warden asked him if he had any last request, he replied smilingly: "You might get me a good gas mask."

Mrs. Edith Dixon of San Benito street in the Richmond Annex was granted a special permit to build a garage with two feet of the property line.

The father charged that the girl transferred $100,000 worth of securities entrusted her, to a Hoboken bank, and refused to return them.

TRIAL OF L. A. STREETWORK NEWSPAPER DELAYED

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—UP—The contempt trial of three executives of the Los Angeles Record was postponed for one week today, after the defendants filed affidavits of prejudice against Superior Judge Frank Collier, who was to hear the case.

Judge Collier denied the prejudice and postponed the opening of the hearing, after telling H. B. R. Briggs, publisher; Gilbert Brown, editor, and Rodney Brink, managing editor, that in his opinion, an affidavit of prejudice had no bearing in a contempt of court case.

The judge said, however, that defendants might ask a writ of prohibition from the state supreme court and he ordered the delay to permit them to do so, if they desired.

Delay Ordered
Briggs, Brown and Brink, in their affidavits filed through the law firm of William Gibbs McAdoo, charged that Judge Collier has retained an active membership in the Los Angeles Bar Association, whose board of governors brought the contempt action. It also was alleged that the bar association may help finance the judge's campaign for re-election.

Judge Collier said he was not surprised that the affidavits were filed against him, but that he was "frankly hurt."

He examined the affidavits and classed some clauses as "true" and others as "false."

He then asked Briggs to stand up.

"I am going to look you straight in the eye when I say what I am going to say," the judge told the publisher.

Judge Collier then denied that he was interested in the action, that he was biased in favor of the Bar Association or against the Record, or that he had given advice to the bar association.

He did admit, however, that he was a member in good standing in the association.

Write Editorials.
The contempt charge was filed against the three newspapermen after a series of cartoons and editorials had appeared in the Record during a recent grand jury investigation of the collapse of the $100,000,000 Julian Petroleum corporation.

The Record denied the articles in question were in contempt, saying they were used to focus public attention on the fact that certain prominent financiers were escaping prosecution for asserted participation in the crash which took the savings of about 40,000 investors.

The defendants today also filed in superior court an answer to the 13 contempt counts brought against them.

The answer admitted the publication of the articles and cartoons, but denied the contempt charges.

A major portion of the time of the city council last night was devoted to street improvements, and sewer work, a part of a general program that will take care of the growth of the city in the future.

The improvement of Pennsylvania avenue, from Nineteenth to Twentieth street was ordered, after protests had been overruled. Bids for the work will be received June 16.

The opening proceedings were completed some time ago, and the present proceedings are for the pavement, which will consist of a four inch broken rock cushion, with a four inch asphaltic concrete top. It is estimated that the work will cost $1422.

There are 388 lots in the improvement district, and the assessment on the lots will range from 41 cents to $7.81. The district to be assessed runs from Twentieth street to Tenth street.

A protest signed by 49 property owners, representing 116 lots was presented, but this was overruled.

Deed Received
A deed from the Southern Pacific company, which will provide for the widening of Pullman avenue, from Cutting to Potrero was received, and ordered placed on record. City Engineer E. A. Hoffman is working on the plans for the improvement of the street, and they will be ready for presentation in a short time. Pullman avenue, when improved, will connect on to Panhandle, and thus provide a second through traffic artery.

Industrial Sewers
Plans and specifications for the new sewers in the industrial district at the foot of Tenth street, and a resolution of intention for the work were adopted. The new sewer will care for the needs of the Ford Motor company, and the Filice and Perrelli Canning company and other industries that will locate in that district.

It is estimated that the improvement will cost $117,000. It will provide for the extension of the Tenth street sewer, the connecting of the Fourteenth street sewer to it, and the building of a new sewer on Hall avenue.

The action on this matter was taken by the council as the result of a mass meeting of citizens held a short time ago, when it was recommended that the work be done.

World Court Functions In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, UP—A very practical "world court" is functioning in Los Angeles.

Here at the opening of each day's session are Hindus, Chinese, Americans, Turks, Jews, Armenians, Filipinos, Mexicans and a variegated assortment of the peoples who make continental Europe Judge R. Morgan Galbreath, who perhaps, has been addressed in nearly every tongue in the world, presides over the court, officially known as Dept. 27, of the Municipal Court, and more commonly as the Small Claims Court.

Here the baker, the butcher and the barber and all of the people who may have small accounts or claims put in their appearance. Minor traffic damage cases are brought before Judge Galbreath, and many are the motorists who scowl at one another while the court deliberates on the respective merits of their cases.

But, deliberation is short lived. Judge Galbreath operates a rapid-fire court, handling an average

The smallest claim ever paid was for the laundering of a shirt-waist. The bill amounted to 25 cents and cost the plaintiff $1 to swear out the complaint and to serve the summons.

Local Merchants Hold Session

A meeting of some 75 independent Richmond merchants was held last night in the auditorium of the Lincoln school under the direction of K. A. Holcomb, to consider methods of protection from chain stores.

Holcomb advocated the sponsoring of a radio program for one hour each night by the local independent merchants, during which propaganda against chain store methods would be interspersed with a program of entertainment.

The programs should be started by August, Holcomb said.

GRAF LEAVES ON SEA HOP

LAKEHURST, N. J., June 2.—UP—The Graf Zeppelin, giant aerial voyager, set sail tonight across the north Atlantic with the promise of its commander that regular trans-oceanic dirigible service would be in operation by September of 1931.

Dr. Hugo Eckener master, announced the prospective establishment of such a service just before he ordered the departure of the Graf on its 7050-mile flight to Seville and the home port of Friedrichshafen.

The Zeppelin slid away on the last lap of a journey to three continents at 9:12 p. m. EST.

From the glare of spotlights at the air station the dirigible ascended slowly into the moonlit sky, aided by a gentle south wind, and soon headed almost due north so that it could pass over New York city before heading for the sea.

Then living is easier. Mother won't have to stoke the furnace when father is away. Guests will always be warm and comfortable. No one need interrupt a party to fire the furnace. Your home is more healthful—there is no over-heating, no under-heating.

Change-Over Inexpensive

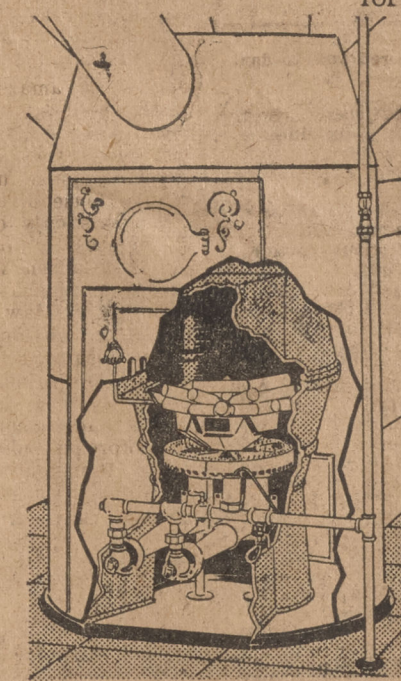

To change your present furnace to burn Natural Gas is easy and very inexpensive. We merely install our special "Occidental Conversion Burner" in the firebox.

Healthful and Safe

It is Clean

With the "Conversion Burner" your curtains, your wall-paper, and your furniture retain their fresh cleanliness. There is no soot or dirt.

The Wife's New Way of Helping Her Husband's Career

AFTER talking with twelve different executives," says Ruth Leigh in the current issue of Woman's magazine, "I have come to the conclusion that a wife contributes to her husband's business success in four different ways:

"First, in an economic way, in which a wife's chief part is to see that the family lives within a man's income;

"Second, a wife contributes to a man's career in a spiritual way, by giving him moral support, showing courage and confidence in him;

"Third, a wife's part is to help her husband develop mentally, by encouraging him to read and to study, with the object of self-improvement;

"Fourth, a wife's most direct contribution to her husband's career is in a social way, by providing him with the right home background."

Yet, in this summary of conjugal co-operation, Miss Leigh fails to mention the new way in which the ever-increasing number of young women are helping the careers of their husbands. We refer, of course, to the fifty-fifty wives who are developing careers of their own.

Please, at the outset, let us go on record as saying that we are NOT one of the left-wing feminists who assert that EVERY wife should hold down a job outside her home—that, if she doesn't, she's a slacker. On the contrary, we think that when Miss Leigh's young children, adjustment to any daily job besides caring for them is likely to be hard on her, or on the children, or on them all. There are other circumstances, too, in which the woman who stays at home is a busy and useful and successful wife, deserving of all praise.

This question of her earning money after marriage is always one for personal adjustment—no general rule can or should be laid down. Nevertheless, common observation and logic seem to prove that the healthy, childless young woman who, for a time at least, continues the work for which she has been trained, is helping her husband as well as herself.

THE big way in which she helps him is that she makes him more footloose, financially speaking. He can take chances, play long shots for success which are utterly impossible for the man who earns for two. Even Miss Leigh brings out the fact that many business men consider wives poor gamblers.

"They never realize," she argues sagely, "how their short-sightedness, their fear of taking a chance, can often ruin a man's business future. It would pay more than one wife to show her breadth of vision by encouraging her husband to take a chance, even if it involves temporary hardships. Better to endure them than to have a man unhappy, harboring secret, even subconscious, resentment against you the rest of his life because you will not let him take a chance."

And that's all perfectly true—but, if you are self-supporting, you are far more willing to "encourage your husband to take a chance." You are not deterred by the "fear"—really quite natural—that, if he guesses wrong, you will cease to eat and be evicted for non-payment of rent! You know that, at a pinch, you can even provide necessities for two, while he's getting a fresh start.

This is the point where a certain number of men like to remark, severely, that that's the trouble with the wage-earning wife—she makes things too easy for her husband, who breaks his economic backbone. We've always felt the men advancing this argument were far too cynical about their own sex! We simply do not believe that the average decent man is going to turn into a lazy quiver because his wife can and does earn from $25 a week up! We don't believe the a. d. m. is such a worm!

It is, on the other hand, perfectly compatible with his self-respect for him to accept temporary financial assistance from his wife, if the important deal in which he is interested hangs life or goes wrong. Who has a better right to help him over? Whom will he be more impatient to pay back—for whom will he work harder to make the next deal a success?

THEN, again—and this little fact very naturally was not emphasized by the twelve executives whom Miss Leigh interviewed—a fifty-fifty wife can save her husband's self-respect by freeing him from the necessity of eating dirt, just because his boss tries to stick his nose in the dish. There are employers for whom no man would work, there are jobs which no man would hold, if he had not in the familiar Baconian phrase, given hostages to fortune.

The man married to a wife with a salary does not lie awake nights thinking what would happen to her if he were fired by his Simon Legree. Instead, when his economic situation becomes intolerable, he tells Mr. Legree to take his job and go to!

Finally, the really efficient fifty-fifty wife helps her husband to save as well as to earn. She by no means devotes her whole salary to personal luxuries, or even to the service which she cannot perform in the home. With vigorous health, good management, the use of labor-saving inventions and foods, the friendly co-operation of her husband, when young, well-established, wisely and economically, provides what Miss Leigh calls "the right home background," yet puts aside money.

This is no dream picture, but the practical program of many a level-headed, modern young couple. It isn't only the stay-at-home wife who can be thrifty, and more can be saved from two salaries than from one. Here, again, the final result may well contribute to the career of the husband. If he wants to get out of the salary rut and start in business for himself, he may acquire capital the more quickly when his wife's earnings contribute to it.

But suppose the wife with a job becomes more interested in her own career than in giving to that of her husband the "moral support" which Miss Leigh finds that it doesn't work that way. If she's in love with the man she marries. And if she isn't, a far lot of "moral support" he's going to get from her, whether she works or not!

The Wedding Gift Showing

I T IS not customary to display the gifts at present-day weddings as was the rule some years ago.

Of course the bride realizes how interested her closest friends are in her trousseau and wedding presents, so a few days before her marriage she invites her friends in for an afternoon of bridge or just an informal evening gathering at which time she personally shows her gifts.

There are always those who cling to old customs so if you must have your wedding gifts on display at the wedding, first remove all the cards.

To Silence Screen Doors
SLAMMING screen door is a source of much irritation.

This can easily be overcome by the following method, suggested by a writer in "Better Homes and Gardens." Three notches, each 1/2 inch long, are cut in the jamb. In these notches are placed short lengths of three-eighths or half-inch rubber tubing. A metal clip, with a wood screw seal each end, is slipped over the tubing. The only escape for the air is through a minute hole made in the rubber tubing. When the door is closed against these bumpers the air can not instantly escape through the small hole. The door releases slightly, then gradually settles to rest.

The essential requisite is the "dimpled, para-rubber tubing. Ordinary red-rubber tubing will not serve. It is too rigid. Para-rubber tubing can be bought at a drug store or at a hospital supply store. Good rubber will serve as a silencer for six months or more. It can be replaced any time for 25 cents.

For the All-Important Cleansing

CLEAN skin, while it may not be precisely a beautiful skin, has many of the attributes of beauty. Cleanliness is, for one thing, and fitness of texture and softness and smoothness, too, usually.

A large pore, you know, is really an unclean pore—a pore choked with waste matter.

Cleansing is therefore the first and most important step to beauty of skin. But what sort of cleanser?

Long ago, when the question of making at home "comes one of doubt," Mrs. B. does not say whether she intends to make her own covers, but a hint or two in this direction may be timely.

Lengths of material should be cut for the front, back and sides of the pieces to be covered, allowing plenty of room for tucking in at the back and sides of the seats. Lay the pieces in place over the chair or sofa, shaping and pinning them to fit as you would a garment that is being molded to the human figure. Remove the covers, cord and baste the seams or welt them in contrasting color, allowing openings of about twelve inches in depth at the back seams to permit room for slipping on and off. Stitch all seams; cord or welt the bottom edges and finish with a five-inch box-pleated ruffle.

If one is patient and a bit skillful, following these simple rules invariably brings success.

Turquoise Tones In Draperies

ALTHOUGH all shades are particularly smart this season, turquoise is given special attention in attractive rugs and draperies. Especially in the sun room is turquoise a good color to select, using this as a drape over window curtains of cream cotton voile, with a floor jar of turquoise-colored pottery which may be filled with feathery yellow blooms for accent.

This combination of blue with lemon yellow is seen in draperies of white boldly patterned in blue and used over glass curtains of yellow cotton voile. Voiles are favored in most shops for glass curtains in the summer home, or to make the house look the part of summer. The plain voiles are suggested with figured cretonne and chintz overdrapes.

When You Dye Fabrics

THE secret of success in dyeing fabrics is strict attention to details. There must be sufficient water to cover the article; it must never be allowed to float to the surface of the dye bath, and constant lifting and stirring with a blunt stick is essential. Rinse thoroughly, but do not wring—just squeeze out gently and dry quickly in the open air if possible.

The pineapples in the market now are of such superior quality and so low in price that it is a great temptation to serve them frequently. Now that oranges and grapefruit are so high priced, fresh sliced pineapple or pineapple juice are the perfect introductions to breakfast, and for luncheon or desserts nothing is more delicious than fresh pineapple with cream, or pineapple cups, or sponge cake made of honey.

One pinch of anything, however, even the fresh and piquant pineapple, unless the mode of preparation is varied, and the housewife occasionally shows off her desert of cooked pineapple. For these canned pineapple can be substituted, of course, but with such delicious fresh pineapples in the market at moderate prices, every one who has time for their preparation should use them.

One of the most delicious pineapple desserts is this one suggested by Louise Bennett Weaver.

PINEAPPLE TARTS

1 cup flour
1-3 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup lard

3 tablespoons cold water
1 cup crushed or diced pineapple
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg

3 tablespoons pineapple juice
1 tablespoon butter
Mix flour and salt and cut in lard with knife. Mixing with knife, slowly add water. When stiff dough forms divide into six parts and roll out each part on floured board. Fit each piece of dough into shallow, buttered muffin pan. Mix pineapple, sugar, cinnamon, egg and pineapple juice and pour into pastry shells. Dot with butter. Bake twenty minutes in a moderate (350 degrees) oven.

School nurse says
all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene an experienced district nurse said:
"One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there is no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

GOLDEN DAWN
MARC O'FARRELL

This story is based on Warner Bros. Vitaphone production of the play by Otto Harbach and Oscar Hammerstein II.

SYNOPSIS
Fair-skinned Dawn, mystery girl, becomes the bride, against her wishes, of the black god Malinche. Her sweetheart, Tom Allen, has been transported to England, on the instigation of Shep Keyes, whip-wielding bully with influence over the blacks. Shep purposes to have the field clear for his evil designs on Dawn. Tom, who is with the colonial troops who recapture the territory of the British Protectorate. The natives are restive because of the drought. When the British commandant assures them he has no power to produce rain, they grow angry on Dawn. Because she has not procured rain from the god, they mean to burn her alive.

Shep's impassioned tribute to Dawn's beauty had unwittingly betrayed his motive.
"That's enough!" continued Judson. "Go back to your people and thank a benign British governor that you're not in the stockade!"
It was clear to Shep that the Colonel was thoroughly angry. He cursed his folly for attempting to intimidate the officer. Striving to regain some sort of favor with the commander, he bowed humbly, muttered a weak and disingenuous apology and hurried from the place.

For several minutes the Colonel paced the floor, pausing every now and then to seat himself and plunge into deep thought. That Tom was at the settlement he did not for an instant doubt. And that he was back for the purpose Shep suspected was also a matter that left little room for doubt. Had he been ordered to the

FIREWORKS AT EL CERRITO LEGALIZED

On a motion of Councilman Peter Larsen, the council of El Cerrito, at its meeting Monday, adopted an ordinance legalizing the sale and firing of fireworks in the city with the exception of skyrockets and giant fire crackers.

The ordinance provides that anyone not paying a business tax in the city, must pay a license of $100 per year, and cannot sell or fire fireworks between July 5th and June 27th.

This ordinance repeals the former one prohibiting the sale and firing of fireworks in the city, and will go into effect in 30 days.

An invitation of the Order of St. John the Baptist, to attend their celebration on June 21 and 22, was accepted by the council, and placed on file.

Request of the Order of St. John the Baptist, for a permit to have a parade from St. John church along San Pablo avenue to Fink Lane, and to sell soft drinks during the celebration June 21 and 22, was granted.

Petition of residents for a new street light at Blake and Navalar streets was referred to light commissioner Ernest O'Brien for one week.

Complaint of Charles Kaufman, that the tanks on the property on San Pablo avenue was a nuisance and dangerous, and should be removed, was placed on file when city attorney T. H. DeLap informed the council that an ordinance would have to be passed in order to force the owner to move them.

A resolution favoring the plan of the cities of Northern California forming an organization which would appear before the Railroad Commission on rate hearings and mergers of public utilities was passed by the council. Action was taken on request of the Mayors' Conference of Central California.

In order to facilitate negotiations for the opening of Liberty street between Schmidt and Fink Lanes, the council went on record as favoring a 60 foot right of way through the property of H. Hansen, on the request of street commissioner Peter Larsen.

On the report of electrical inspector H. Carling, who stated that the electrical ordinance was out of date, the council instructed city attorney T. H. DeLap to draw up a new ordinance, patterned after the city of Berkeley.

Application of H. E. Maxwell, 1840 San Pablo avenue, for a soft drink permit, was referred to

Eight Hurt In Air Ferry Plane Crash

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—UP—An attempt to pilot an amphibian plane over a sand barge aid below the high power wires that span the estuary here failed today and eight persons were injured in the resultant crash, one seriously.

The trans-bay plane of Air Ferries, Inc., was taking off from the Oakland terminal for San Francisco when the accident happened. It had gone 200 yards and was traveling 60 miles an hour.

There were six passengers, five of them women, and two pilots. Mrs. J. E. Hawley, 59, of San Francisco, was the most seriously injured, but her physicians approved transferring her to a San Francisco hospital late today.

Among those who received emergency treatment and later was released was Isabelle Stewart, 25, of Chicago.

"We were going about 60 miles an hour," Miss Stewart said. "I was watching the speedometer. We were a few feet off the water when suddenly there was a ripping noise. And then we were all thrown forward."

"It all happened so quickly and we were rescued so speedily by the crew of the barge, that we didn't realize until it was all over what had happened."

Fred Hammer, co-pilot of the craft which makes the trip between San Francisco and Oakland in six minutes, said the plane was veered to the right, but failed to clear the barge. He said it was at a low altitude to keep under the power wires.

The front part of the plane was submerged four feet under water.

Fellowship To Hear Scribe

The meeting of the Good Fellowship club of the First Presbyterian church tonight will be addressed by J. B. Doyle, Oakland newspaperman. His subject will be "The Making of a Newspaper."

Homer Patterson will be chairman of the evening, and vocal solos will be rendered by Henry Clark.

Miss Vivian Vaughn will oblige with piano solos.

Chief of Police Cheek for one week.

On the suggestion of Councilman Phil A. Lee, the council revoked immediately the license of I. Rice to operate a vaudeville marathon in El Cerrito, under the auspices of the American Legion.

Lee stated that Rice had disappeared, and that there was no money for the contestants, and there was no excuse for the marathon to run any longer.

The council of El Cerrito will meet Friday night at 7:30, as a committee to listen to truck salesmen in order to arrive at specifications for a new truck on which bids will be asked in the near future.

City Attorney T. H. DeLap was instructed to draw up an ordinance providing that no signs may be erected or placed in the parkway on San Pablo avenue, without the consent of the owner and the city council.

Charles W. Wyatt, of Berkeley, made the complaint that there was a sign in front of his property at San Pablo and Panama street, and he was powerless to have it removed.

HISTORICAL OBJECTS COLLECTED FOR MUSEUM

About 100 items, collected by the board of directors of Memorial hall, are now being classified as to museum value, in acting upon an plan by the board to exhibit a collection of historic objects.

It was originally planned to display only a case of war trophies, but other souvenirs and mementoes of American history have been received in sufficient quantities to warrant an extension of the original idea. The board, however, plans to keep the collection within certain bounds, so that it may be definite in character. The present plan is to form an exhibit which will include only articles of patriotic or national interest.

The board believes that a first rate collection can be built up, and anyone who has any offerings is asked to call up H. H. Zimmerman, George F. Imbach or George F. Stuffer.

Examples of some of the things which have been received are:

Bits of wood from the Washington Elm at Cambridge and from the Franklin Elm at New Haven; a fragment of the first official code message sent to Washington with the news of McKinley's assassination at Buffalo; a photograph of the White House during the Roosevelt regime, with Mrs. Roosevelt's best wishes expressed on her calling card; a program of the unveiling ceremonies at Frederick, Md., when the Francis Scott Key monument was dedicated in 1898, and so forth.

Murder Suspect Attends Funeral

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—UP—Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, jointly accused with Otto Sanhuber, termed her "attie lover," of the murder of Fred Oesterreich, her husband, today was granted release from the county jail on $50,000 bail to attend the funeral of her mother in Milwaukee.

Judge Carlos Hardy ordered that Mrs. Oesterreich be accompanied east by Mrs. Nettie Yaw, a deputy sheriff.

Earlier in the day trial of Mrs. Oesterreich and Sanhuber was postponed until June 11 because of defense and prosecution attorneys were tied up in other court actions.

The state charged that Sanhuber shot Oesterreich, a rich garment manufacturer, and that Mrs. Oesterreich helped hide the crime for eight years to protect Sanhuber, who lived in attics of the Oesterreich homes for approximately 18 years after becoming infatuated with Mrs. Oesterreich.
